“Two decades of work, touching millions of lives.”

Patrick Tennyson, President and CEO

For twenty years, Butterfly Pavilion's mission has been to foster an appreciation of invertebrates while educating the public about the importance of conservation of threatened habitats in the tropics and around the world.

From our humble beginnings and the vision of a few dedicated individuals, Butterfly Pavilion spread its wings from a simple butterfly house to becoming one of the most recognized leaders for invertebrate education and research in our region. Over the years, the original vision has grown into what is now the eighth largest cultural attraction in the Denver Metro area, hosting nearly 5.5 million visitors in 20 years of operation. Butterfly Pavilion is the only institution of its type in the entire 10-state Rocky Mountain region, and has become a prototype for six other U.S. invertebrate zoos. In 2014, we became the first standalone invertebrate zoo to be accredited by the Association of Zoos and Aquariums and a resource for thousands of facilities around the world.

We are fortunate that the story of Butterfly Pavilion includes generous, insightful and dedicated individuals who saw the potential of an idea and helped bring the dream to fruition. We thank Butterfly Pavilion's dedicated volunteers, donors, staff, board members and each and every one of you for playing such a critical role in advancing Butterfly Pavilion's mission.

The journey to date has been remarkable. Butterfly Pavilion has established itself as a voice with an impact on the importance of invertebrates locally, nationally and beyond. We have sustained exponential growth since our founding, and last year over 300,000 people visited our facility.

Joining Butterfly Pavilion staff in 1999 as a classroom educator, I can speak firsthand to the growth and development of the impact of Butterfly Pavilion. I have grown with the organization, from the classroom to leading our educational efforts to becoming the CEO of the organization in 2010. There has been no better job in the world than to provide fun, engaging family entertainment that also offers important educational programming and protects wildlife and wild places.

Over the next decade, Butterfly Pavilion will embark on expanding our efforts in education and conservation, and continue to grow our investment in species conservation and reintroduction locally, nationally and globally.

Our future growth will take shape on many fronts, from classroom education experiences here in Westminster to distance learning programs all over the world. With the continued development of our work in sustainable business ventures, we will promote better living for business partners in emerging nations while at the same time protecting vital tropical habitat globally. Together, we can alter the way business gets done for decades to come. Certainly we will continue to create experiences that provide each guest of our facility with a unique adventure that inspires a true appreciation for invertebrates, while simultaneously advancing the understanding and capacity for each and every one of us to engage in the future of habitat conservation.

We are proud to share this look back on the importance of Butterfly Pavilion's work and its impact on the lives of so many people over the years, and we invite you to continue with us on our journey well into the future.

Patrick Tennyson
President and CEO

Our mission is to foster an appreciation of invertebrates while educating the public about the importance of conservation of threatened habitats in the tropics and around the world.

We believe that an appreciation of the environment begins with an appreciation of all living things. Every day we teach the young and old alike about the need for conservation, because with knowledge and empowerment we will protect the world's natural habitats for generations to come.

We flew 29,558 butterflies & moths and 180 different tropical species.

Program Highlights

We imported pupae investing over $75,000 in the sustainable business practice of butterfly farming, which provides a fair trade income to people in the tropics keeping the rainforest intact and contributing to global conservation efforts.

Education Highlights

- 12,963 students were served with half or full scholarships in 2015
- Over 10 new programs were developed for school and camp visitors
- 34,394 school students were served through onsite visits
- 15,522 students were served through outreach to their schools
- 574 campers attended day camps
- 54,016 guests participated in a Spineless Spotlight presentation such as a butterfly release, Mantis shrimp feeding or science spot

Scientific Highlights

We saw

12,445

attendees at our four major public events:

Bloomapalooza, Insectival, Bug-A-Boo & Living Lights

These special events appeal to visitors across a broad spectrum of age groups and demographics while carrying a strong conservation message.

2015 Award Winners

Volunteer Hero Award

This award is presented to a business or individual who has gone above and beyond to support Butterfly Pavilion with countless hours of service.

Key Bank and their employees have been crucial horticulture volunteers since 2013. They are involved in planting annuals in our habitat gardens, removing nonnative species and creating better habitat for butterflies and other pollinators.

Conservation Champion Award

This award is presented to a business that has a history of conservation and improving the environment.

Xcel Energy has a long history of addressing wildlife protection, including avian protection, land restoration and fish management. The utility company takes extra steps to protect these special resources, and responsible environmental stewardship is one of Xcel Energy's core values.

Over the past five years, the Xcel Energy Foundation has provided over $37,000 in grants directly to the Rocky Mountain Butterfly Consortium.

Xcel Energy continues to be a proud partner in the conservation and protection of both the Karner Blue butterfly and the Monarch butterfly. The company has recently announced a partnership with the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service to use the utility's property and right-of-way to aide in the conservation efforts of Monarch butterfly habitat. This partnership will conserve Monarch breeding and migration areas, and increase the availability of seed for native milkweeds and nectar plants.

Monarch Award

This award is presented to an individual who is a champion of the mission of Butterfly Pavilion and the impact it has on Conservation, Education and Colorado.

Ellie Caulkins

Ellie is the self-described Johnny Appleseed of milkweed in Colorado. Her long history of support and championing for the protection of the Monarch butterfly is the reason Ellie Caulkins has been selected as the inaugural Monarch Award recipient.

Pioneer Award

This award is presented to an individual who has been instrumental in the success of Butterfly Pavilion over our 20 years.

Bob Briggs

Bob Briggs was a founding member of the Board and has been a key driving force of the success we have seen at Butterfly Pavilion over our 20 years.

Sustainability

In our daily operations, and looking toward the future, Butterfly Pavilion is steadfastly dedicated to building a more sustainable business. With our roots so deeply embedded in conservation efforts, it is our absolute obligation to ensure the richest commitment to environmentally conscious business practices. We continue to make upgrades to the facility that improve efficiency, including installing LED light bulbs. Our Green Team is planning for the future, identifying upgrades over the next several years that will allow us to reduce our carbon footprint. We also seek vendors and partners who are like-minded in their dedication to sustainability.
